

BREAKING THE CYCLE OF DOMESTIC VIOLENCE TOGETHER

A survivor's journey of healing

At age 22, Diamond thought her new boyfriend was a really great guy. He seemed very nice and charming but after they had been dating for six months, things took a dark turn. "He would just have random bursts of anger," Diamond admitted. "It was just little things at first that I was probably ignoring, but then it led to explosions. He just was not able to control his temper."

Diamond decided she was unsafe, and she needed to leave. When she told him, her boyfriend once again lost his temper, and this time, his anger led to a lifealtering attack when he pulled out a gun and shot her in the face.

Diamond was in a coma for two weeks and spent a month in the hospital. Through determination and hard work, she made what her doctors call a full physical recovery. Once she completed her physical rehab, staff recommended she continue healing at CHOICES. "I lost everything after the shooting," she shared. "I was unsure about going to CHOICES, but I was reassured that I would be safe and they could help me heal and get back on my feet. And they were right about that."

CHOICES works to break the cycle of domestic violence by providing emergency shelter, critical support, counseling and other services that help victims and their children find safety, heal from their trauma and plan for a safer future.

The safety, healing and hope found at CHOICES helps victims of domestic violence like Diamond become survivors. There are so many more like her in our community that need your support. By joining Team CHOICES, you can help victims regain their freedom from domestic violence and rebuild their lives!

Domestic violence kills.

The toll of domestic violence is high – making CHOICES one of the most vital organizations in our community.

8,437 incidents* of domestic violence were responded to by Franklin County police departments in 2024.

*Defined as violence against a family or household member.

3,025 arrests made for charges of domestic violence by Columbus police in 2024.

18 homicides

due to domestic violence in Franklin County, including 3 children.*

*July 1, 2023 – June 30, 2024 (Ohio Domestic Violence Network)

Domestic violence cuts across all demographic and socio-economic levels. CHOICES' services are available to all victims of domestic violence, including men, members of the LGBTQ community, and those with limited English skills. Annually, about 50% of the shelter population is children and a substantial number of residents are pregnant. Typically, our shelter serves people who are low-income, such as the working poor or victims who have had access to their financial resources blocked by their abuser.

Bring healing. Give hope. Join Team CHOICES!

Team CHOICES is our year-long fundraising and community awareness initiative culminating in the fall with a focused multimedia campaign, during National Domestic Violence Awareness Month in October, to educate our community about domestic violence and how CHOICES helps. The goal of Team CHOICES is to raise $370,000 from corporate partners, community-led events and individuals who participate in our peer-to-peer campaign. As a Team CHOICES partner, you can support this important initiative, and the victims and children CHOICES serves every day.
